Cigarette makers to serve federal time

Attorney says Ammermans were between 'rock and hard place,' made bad decision

By Becky Barnes, Editor

A federal judge sentenced local cigarette manufacturers to prison for their admitted roles in avoiding tax payments on their cigarettes over a two-year period.

Robert Ammerman, 71, will serve 18 months in jail and his son, Mike, 47, will serve 15 months. The Ammermans are the owners of Farmers Tobacco Co. of Cynthiana, makers of Kentucky Best cigarettes and other brands.

Additionally, the pair have forfeited $8 million, $5 million in federal excise taxes, interest and penalties, $1.4 million in additional payments to the settling states under the Master Settlement Agreement (MSA), and another $49,000 in payment into escrow for the federal tobacco quota buyout.

Krisi Allen, public information officer with the U.S. District Court in Mississippi, said the Ammermans will report to prison on April 2 and will be on supervised release for one year after serving their respective prison sentences.

Allen said U.S. District Judge Sharion Aycock recommended that they serve at the federal prison in Ashland, Ky. However, that decision is made by the Bureau of Prisons.

Bob Ammerman declined comment, deferring to his attorney.

Christie Moore, who represented the Ammermans as legal counsel in their federal case, said Tuesday that the pair found themselves in a Catch 22 situation basically overnight because of the changing requirements of the MSA.

"They had to borrow millions to pay this unexpected financial burden for which they could not have prepared," Moore wrote as part of an introduction in the case.

Under threat of a lawsuit from "the states," the Ammermans decided to join the MSA. However, this meant they would have to agree to a back debt for every cigarette sold from 2001 to when they signed with the MSA. They agreed to sign a note for $21.2 million to cover that cost and was financed for 10 years.

They were able to meet the

Three airlifted from Wednesday fire

By Becky Barnes, Editor

Three people were airlifted to the University of Kentucky Hospital Wednesday around noon after a fire broke out at their Oddville Avenue home.

Cynthiana Fire Chief Jay Sanders said when firefighters arrived at the home, which is located across from Cooper Wholesale, a man was outside the home trying to knock down the flames.

"A neighbor said there were small children inside," Sanders said. "That's when we headed inside."

The man who was outside fighting the fire when first responders arrived was taken to Harrison Memorial Hospital by Brown Ambulance Service. Two small children were also transported to HMH to be airlifted.

No names have been released.

Firefighters were still on the scene at press time. However, three helicopters -- two pediatric -- had been called in to take the victims to Lexington.

Brown files new fees in bankruptcy case

By Becky Barnes, Editor

After filing for Chapter 11 bankruptcy in U.S. District Court, attorneys for Kay Brown have filed an amended fee schedule.

As last reported, the U.S. District Court trustee Samuel Crocker, questioned Brown's hiring of three law firms to oversee her bankruptcy proceedings.

Crocker called the retainers Brown paid "substantial."

According to Crocker, Brown had already paid $199,789.44 to the firms of Whiteford, Taylor & Preston and The Bolog Firm, both of Maryland, and Spurgeon and Tinker of Lexington.

However, in documents filed Feb. 6 in U.S. District Court, by Brown's attorneys, the three firms retainers have amounted to $190,000 -- Whiteford, Taylor & Preston (WT&P) received $50,000 of which $26,500 has been drawn; The Bolog Firm has received $41,350 and was drawn in full; and Spurgeon & Tinker received $98,650 of which $74,139.44 has been drawn.

Brown says the money to pay the firms was given to her as a loan from her brother, Roger Kirk.

Teen injured in ATV/sledding accident Friday

By Ben Hyatt, News writer

A Friday evening ATV wreck sent one juvenile to the UK Hospital in critical condition.

According to a Harrison County Sheriff's report, the juvenile was severely hurt following an ATV accident which occurred around 6:45 p.m., Friday, Feb. 10, on McDowell Road.

According to the investigation conducted by Deputy Nathan Gasser, two juveniles were playing in the snow; one was pulling the other behind an ATV on a plastic sled when the accident occurred.

"The one boy who was driving was told moments before the accident by his father to stop for the night," said Gasser. "After the parent left, the boy took one more trip around the yard and that's when the accident occurred."

Gasser said the young boy who was being pulled by the ATV slammed into a tree that was located in the yard, causing immediate head trauma and possible collarbone injuries.

"I am not sure to the extent of his injuries, but he was not conscious at the time that I arrived," said Gasser. "No foul play is suspected. It is just an unfortunate accident."

The juvenile was transported to Harrison Memorial Hospital to be evaluated and then transported by ambulance to UK Hospital.

"Unfortunately the weather would not allow us to transport him by air," said Gasser. "The last that I heard he had made some improvement, but I am unsure of his current condition."

As of press time UK Hospital listed the juvenile as being in fair condition.

the required payments for the first three years of their 10-year payoff agreement due to reduced payments of $500,000 a year in 2004, 2005 and 2006. It was in 2007 that the Ammermans found themselves in financial trouble. The annual payment on principal jumped to $2.5 million.

"We went to bed on Monday night owing $1.1 million in escrow and woke up Tuesday morning owing over $9.9 million," Mike Ammerman is quoted in court documents.

Small tobacco companies like Farmers Tobacco had to increase their escrow payments from 35 cents per carton to about $3 per carton and the payments were retroactive. As well, they were advised by several states that if they did not comply with the requirements immediately, they would be sued for violation of the escrow statutes.

Moore said that when the Ammermans were faced with a sizeable retroactive payments to states under the MSA, they decided to borrow money from a tobacco wholesaler, Charles Wells, with an agreement to sell cigarettes to Wells "off the books."

Wells has since been sentenced to 24 months in prison for devising the scheme to defraud federal and state governments of taxes and fees, making false monthly tobacco reports and money laundering.

The Ammermans joined with Wells, Moore said, out of fear of having to close Farmers Tobacco Co. and lay off employees.

In 2008, the Ammermans discontinued their arrangement with Wells, according to court documents. They also hired an independent auditor to determine how many cigarettes had been sold off the books and how much taxes and fees had not been paid during the period that they were saddled with Wells.

They offered to pay $1,023,048 in previously unreported federal excise taxes as determined by the auditor.

"They did this even before they knew they were under investigation," Moore said. "I think that speaks volumes of the kind of people they are."

A month later, the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms and the Federal Bureau of Investigation served a search warrant at the Ammermans' U.S. 27 North/Church Street factory, which began operation in 1999 and sales in 2001.

At one time, Farmers Tobacco Co. had 110 employees. That number is down to 55.

Moore said the Ammermans have made plans to maintain the factory throughout their incarceration.

"The first priority is to the company and its employees and keeping things rolling as they are," Moore said. "They're going to keep their customers happy during this interim."

Moore said she was disappointed in the sentences the judge issued.

"I've been so impressed with how Bob and Mike have responded," said Moore, who noted that about 40 people from the Ammermans hometowns in Pendleton and Harrison counties supported the pair at the sentencing in Aberdeen, Miss.

Brown

Kirk filed an affidavit stating that he loaned Kay Brown $215,000, $190,000 of which is for legal services.

Crocker also questioned in previous court documents why three firms that appeared to provide the same service were needed.

Attorneys on behalf of Brown responded with the responsibilities of each firm.

The Bolog Firm will serve as "lead special litigation counsel," providing services only in litigation brought by or against the representative of her husband as it relates to certain transactions beginning Feb. 2, 2008, when Jim and Kay Brown were married.

According to court documents, because The Bolog Firm "does not have the resources sufficient to prepare for the various extensive events of litigation that have, and will, arise in connection with the guardian/conservator dispute, The Bolog Firm requires the assistance of WT&P..."

WT&P will provide litigation support including research, analytical support and preparation of motions, exhibits, witnesses, etc.

However, WT&P will not provide trial representation. WT&P will be the secondary special litigation counsel.'

Spurgeon & Tinker were hired to assist Kay Brown with the preparation of her bankruptcy petition and all related documents and pleadings and "subject to the approval from the court, with the prosecution of this Chapter 11 case."

In addition to the retainers, each of the three firms identified their hourly rates from $70 for paralegals to $500 for some of the attorneys.

Spurgeon & Tinker will also receive a contingency fee, which would equal eight and one-third percent of certain recoveries that Kay Brown is seeking.

Kay Brown is seeking to settle disputes over

•certificates of deposit that were previously held in Jim Brown's name and later Kay Brown's name was added. Those amount to $7.7 million.

•any real estate transferred to Kay Brown by her husband. Those have a value of $6 million.

•any and all rent that Kay Brown believes she should have received from some of the real estate that was deeded to Kay Brown following Jim Brown's massive stroke on Dec. 23, 2008. The properties generated $800,000 in rent in 2010.

•settlement of a prenuptial agreement; and

•settlement of a new will of Jim Brown that was dated June 1, 2009.

WT&P also expects a contingency fee of eight and one-half percent of the same disputes if they are settled in favor of Kay Brown.

Likewise, The Bolog Firm and Kay Brown agreed that they would also receive eight and one-third of all settlements.

City gives first nod to raising liquor fee

By Becky Barnes, Editor

Those who sell mixed drinks or package liquor could be paying more to the City of Cynthiana.

Commissioners approved the first of two readings required to pass an ordinance increasing the fee on liquor sales Tuesday night.

The increase from 2 percent to 4 percent would not become effective until May 1.

City Clerk Charleen McIlvain told commissioners at a special meeting last week that between July 1, 2011, and Jan. 20, 2012, the city received $257.52 in administrative fees on the sale of restaurant liquor.

The new fee would include beer, wine and mixed drinks sold in restaurants as well as package liquor.

In other business, the commission:

•Authorized Mayor Steve Moses to sign a contract with Kentucky Utilities to add six utility lights along U.S. 27 South between Connersville Pike and The Valley Restaurant.

•Opened bids on replacement windows for City Hall. No action was taken pending additional study of the two bids.

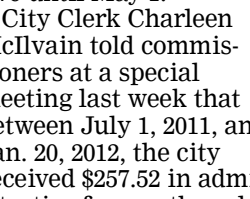

•Read and accepted a letter of retirement from Ptl. Harold Whitlock of the Cynthiana Police Department. Whitlock, who has served 15 years with the department, will retire March 31.

•Declared 54 acres owned by the city on Cook Pike as surplus so that it may be sold.

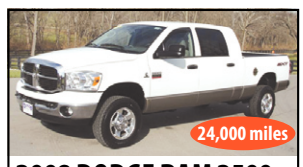

•Agreed to offer employment to three part-time telecommunicators.

•Agreed to offer employment to a water treatment plant trainee.

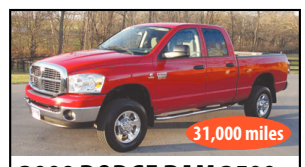

•Met in executive session for an employee disciplinary hearing.

Time is truly how to say 'I love you'

Ben Hyatt
News Writer

Isn't it amazing how our significant others sometimes put their agendas aside to put a smile on our face?

This week is, if you ask me, the biggest excuse for couples to blow money on one another that should be saved.

Valentine's Day. I never really understood it and now that I am married I have grown to dislike it.

For the record, my wife does not require me to purchase a dozen roses and chocolate-covered strawberries.

Instead, she gets a bigger kick out of me leaving her alone to watch her reality television for the night.

Anyways, I don't want to get too far into Valentines Day, but instead look further into the "sweet" things we should do for each other the other 364 days out of the year.

Last weekend, Abby Jo and I decided that we would go to Lexington to enjoy an afternoon out.

Before we left home, her only request for the entire day was to browes through the Peddlers Mall on New Circle Road.

We left our house around noon and decided to eat at the Olive Garden for the first time since being together as a couple.

While we chatted during the 20-minute wait at the restaurant, I decided that it was time for a new pair of tennis shoes. Afterall, it had been three years since my last purchase.

"That's fine," said Abby. "As long as we still make it to the Peddlers' Mall; besides, you need a new pair."

After our delicious meal, and leaving all the amazing leftovers on our table by mistake, we made our way to a very crowded Fayette Mall in search of a pair of new shoes for your's truly.

We began our search at the sporting goods store with little to no luck before risking our lives in the crowded mess of people inside the mall.

Just as a side note, when you go to the mall, walk a little faster and never stand in the middle of a walking lane because it annoys everyone who is actually wanting to get in and out.

Anyway, we searched three different stores, each store twice, before I found the new pair of shoes.

By this time, it was nearing 5 p.m., and we still had a few more stops to make, plus there was still the Peddlers' Mall.

To make a long story short, we ended our Saturday back in Harrison County without ever setting foot inside the one place Abby Jo had waited all day long to visit.

For some odd reason I felt bad about the entire day.

Sure, she enjoyed eating at a nice restaurant and getting to order whatever she wanted, but the remainder of the day seemed to be all about me.

This is not to say that some days in Lexington are not all about her, but until that moment, I had never realized that she gave up her Saturday to go and do things that only benefited me.

Shortly after realizing this, I reminded myself again how lucky I am to have a wife that is willing to put her wants aside to take care of mine.

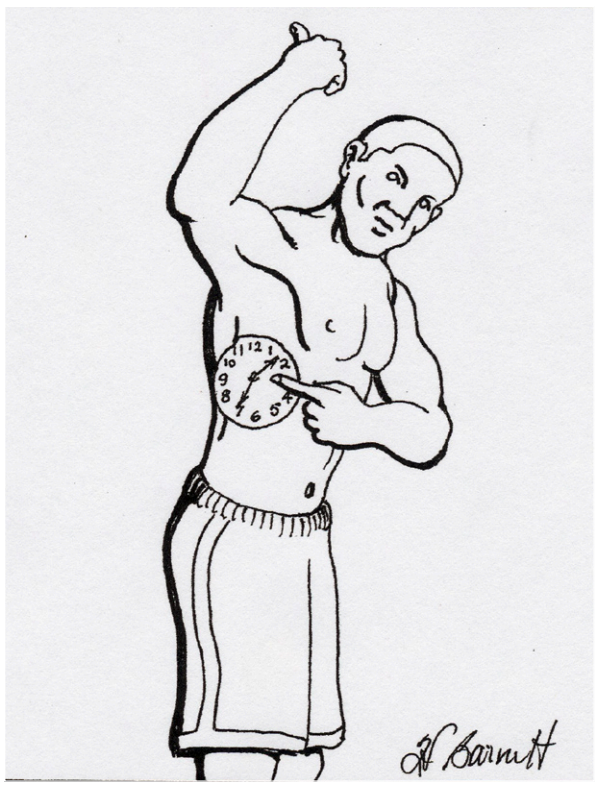

Instead of throwing it in my face for the rest of the night, she seemed very happy for me that I had a good day with my shinny, new shoes.

Something as simple as giving your time away can say the most romantic things and make your significant other feel good about a relationship.

Remember this Valentine's Day that the best gifts are not sent in the form of roses or candy, but by taking the time out of busy schedules to satisfy a love language that truly leaves an everlasting impression on the heart of the ones who mean the most.

To the editor:

We are writing to tell your readers about a recently formed non-profit animal welfare organization in Harrison County, Helping Hounds Find Homes. Its objective is to rescue and transport homeless dogs, cats, puppies and kittens to non-profit, no kill shelters and foster homes where the animals will await adoption to forever homes.

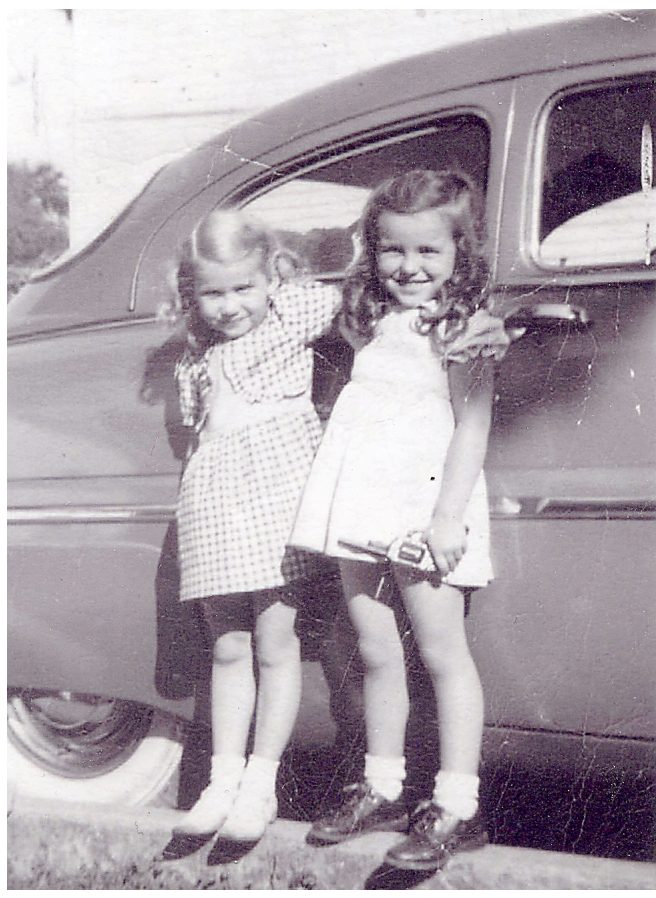

In 2010, 2,307 unwanted dogs and cats entered Flora Shropshire Animal Shelter. Of that number 437 were adopted, 130 were returned to owners, 381 went to rescue and 950 were euthanized.

In 2011, 1,971 animals entered the shelter. Of that number 460 were adopted, 114 were returned to owners, 424 went to rescue and 823 were euthanized. Rescue work truly saves the lives of many Harrison County cats and dogs.

FRANKFORT FOCUS: Leaders set goals to rid state of prescription drug abuse

Tom McKee
State Rep

FRANKFORT – One of the biggest issues this legislative session – stopping prescription drug abuse – took a major step forward early last week, when Governor Beshear and House and Senate leaders voiced their bipartisan support for plans to take quick action.

There is no doubt that something needs to be done. We are seeing far more Kentuckians die from prescription drug overdose than on our highways, and our rate of abuse is well above the national average.

Under legislation filed by House Speaker Greg Stumbo, the state would move its prescription drug monitoring system – known by its acronym, KASPER – from the Cabinet for Health and Family Services to the Attorney General's office. Local prosecutors would also be included among those having access to this program, further highlighting our goal of giving law enforcement and medical licensing boards what they need to pro-actively find and then stop this abuse.

In addition, the legislation would require all prescribers to take part, since less than half of our doctors and pharmacists are now enrolled. By doing this, we would make it much harder for those abusing these drugs to doctor shop, and physicians acting improperly would be less able to move drugs such as OxyContin with little to no oversight of their patients.

At the same time, we are making sure that those patients who need this type of medicine – and doctors who are doing their job correctly – are not adversely affected.

As this bill begins moving through the committee process, the Kentucky House approved several other bills last week that have a lot of potential as well. On Monday, my legislation recognizing the many contributions of our farmers was unanimously adopted in the chamber, a vote that rightly puts a positive light on a multi-billion dollar industry that has been a true bright spot in an otherwise tough economy.

With that in mind, I am proud to co-sponsor another resolution that will be discussed soon in the House Agriculture and Small Business Committee, which I chair. Under this one, the House would call on federal officials to include tobacco and tobacco products within a trade agreement currently being negotiated between the United States and more than a half-dozen Pacific Rim countries, including Australia, New Zealand and Vietnam.

Last year, more than 100 million pounds of U.S. burley was exported, with most of that coming from Kentucky. We want to make sure our tobacco farmers are not shut out of these markets.

In education matters, there were two important bills making it through the House last week. Under House Bill 308, the state would assume more oversight of our for-profit colleges.

This would give us a better chance to make sure that students attending these schools are truly getting the education they deserve.

House Bill 37, meanwhile, would give our elementary and secondary schools more freedom to improve learning by letting them to do such things as alter the school calendar and offer alternative programs after normal schools hours. These "districts of innovation," as they would be called, would be voluntary.

As you may know, there has been a lot of discussion about redistricting in recent weeks. The plan the General Assembly approved last month for its own 138 seats is now under review in the courts, so in the meantime, candidates like me are running in the old districts that have been in place since the last redistricting in 2002. That includes all of Harrison, Pendleton and Robertson counties and a portion of southern Campbell County.

I have thoroughly enjoyed serving this district, so I have no problem using this very-familiar boundary. At some point, however, we will have to have a new plan to reflect the population changes that have occurred over the last decade, but it will take guidance from the Kentucky Supreme Court on how to proceed next.

In another redistricting matter, the General Assembly voted on Friday for a plan for our six congressional seats. This had the support of all serving in Congress and is not expected to be challenged legally.

On a personal note, I had the honor to join with my House colleagues in recognizing the families of those fallen soldiers who have died in the last year protecting our freedom. That includes U.S. Army Sgt. Jeremy R. Summers, a Cynthiana native who died last summer in Afghanistan. His willingness to serve on our behalf will never be forgotten.

This coming week, we reach the halfway point of the legislative session, but much of our work remains. I truly appreciate those who have contacted me with their thoughts or concerns on issues affecting the state, but I would like to hear from more.

If you would like to write, my address is Room 332B, Capitol Annex, 702 Capitol Avenue, Frankfort, KY 40601.

You can also leave a message for me or for any legislator at 800-372-7181. For those with a hearing impairment, the number is 800-896-0305.

Harrison prisoners soon headed to Bourbon County

By Ben Hyatt, News writer

Topping of the agenda for the special Harrison County Fiscal Court meeting held on Monday, Feb. 13, was the issue of changing the detention center used to house Harrison County inmates.

Harrison County jailer Larry Turner was present at the meeting to inform the court that changes could be made to save money in the jail funds.

"We currently are using Grant County Detention Center to house most of our inmates; however, we have the opportunity to start using Bourbon County again," said Turner.

Turner explained an administrative change at Bourbon County that has changed the appearance and quality of the jail.

"Steve Kellam is now the Bourbon County Jail administrator," explained Turner. "Steve use to be the administrator at Grant County. He runs a tight outfit and demands perfection out of his staff."

Turner also explained that by using Bourbon County, the amount of money needed for housing prisoners could be reduced by as much as $30,000 to $40,000.

"In gas alone I save $10 per trip," said Turner. "Also, we have to look at wear on the vehicles."

The court voted unanimously to begin using Bourbon County by around the first of April.

Also discussed at the meeting was the possibility of an ordinance that would prohibit the selling or possession of materials such as certain bath salts.

"There is a long list of items that people today are using to basically get high," said County Judge-Executive Alex Barnett. "I have asked our county attorney to look into an ordinance that would cut down on this issue before it becomes a bigger problem."

During the committee reports, Magistrate Bradley Copes reminded the court that bids for the county farm lease would be opened on Feb. 28.

Gunman changes plea in April 5 shooting

By Becky Barnes, Editor

Formal sentencing will be held Tuesday, Feb. 21, for Andrew Hill, who changed his plea in Harrison District Court last week, prior to the Feb. 16 and 17 scheduled trial.

Hill, 20, pleaded guilty to 15 criminal counts related to an officer-involved shooting, which occurred on April 5, 2011.

The commonwealth attorney recommended a total of 11 years in jail on the charges including: three counts of first degree assault, 10 counts of first degree wanton endangerment, one count of resisting arrest and one of receiving stolen property (firearm).

Hill fired shots at two law officials during his shooting spree on April 5, that sent Brian Davis to UK Hospital and resulted in Hill being wounded as well.

According to earlier accounts of the incident, Hill first shot Davis on West Mill Street. Davis was shot in the foot, leg and hip.

He shot at Curtis Matthew Banks three times and then at Billy Williams three times and Jeffrey Hunter, a constable, three times.

As Hill was attempting to leave the scene in a vehicle driven by his father, Hill was shot by Cynthiana Sgt. Wilbur Gross on Riggs Avenue at Cherokee Drive.

A pre-sentence report is to be filed by Probation and Parole prior to the Feb. 21 hearing.

Estate planning, too important to delay

By Cheryl Case, Co. ext. agent

Have you ever asked yourself the "what if" questions? What if something should happen to me today? What if something should happen to my spouse or business partner? What if I have an accident that leaves me incapacitated?

No one likes to think about these questions. However, the answers are very important to your surviving family members. Taking the time to answer those questions can provide peace of mind. It also can mean that your wishes for asset distribution following death will be followed.

If you should die without some form of estate plan in place, such as a will, your property and other assets will distributed according to Kentucky state law. Dying without a will is known as dying intestate. If you do not wish to have your assets distributed according to state law, then you will need to develop your own estate plan.

The estate planning process can be quiet simple, depending on the size and complexity of your estate. The first step is to get organized by gathering important information and documents. Start by making a list of your assets, or everything that you own. Include all property, including your home, farm property, rental property, and other business assets. Additionally, list other investments and assets, such as stocks, bonds, retirement plans, insurance policies, banking accounts and cash.

As you list your assets, be certain to note how each asset is titled. For example, are you the sole owner, a joint owner with your spouse, or does the asset, such as a life insurance policy, have a specific beneficiary listed? Some items such as a property deed are distributed as to how the terms and names are listed, not necessarily what you write in your will.

Once you have completed a list of all assets, make a similar list of all debts owed, such as mortgages, car loans, credit cards, installment debts, etc. If you subtract your total debts from your total assets, the result will be your net worth.

What, me willing?

GRACE NOTES

Last week we had communion at my church, and I didn't get to be a server.

I'm not sure why not, although I'm pretty sure it was nothing personal. It's highly unlikely that the person who makes the list up looked at my name and thought, "We don't like her anymore. Ha ha ha."

Whatever the reason, I didn't make the servers' list for that week.

When I got the email news that I had been cut, I was shocked. After all, I'm the Saturday-night-grape-juice/bread-over-on-the-left-side-of-the-sanctuary girl!

Harry Austin, who sits in the pew behind me, is one of my best regular customers! I'm not sure I like the idea of someone else telling him, "This is the body of Christ, broken for you" and "This is the blood of Christ, shed for you."

But, as the email explained, they (whoever they are) wanted to shake things up a bit. Just because this is the way we always do things doesn't mean that's the way we'll always do things.

Churches sometimes get stuck that way.

The email writer then asked if I'd be willing to be an usher instead.

It was that word "willing" that tripped me up.

Would I be willing? Am I willing to not do something I'm used to doing, something I love doing, something that has become my passionate avenue of service?

I don't do nursery. I don't fold bulletins. Frankly, I don't do a whole lot at the church other than take up pew space.

To be honest, I'm not all that willing. (There's that word again.)

And I hate that about myself.

So, now I'm feeling guilty. I mean, after all Jesus has done for me, I'm wrestling with being willing/unwilling to do what? Be an usher at church? Take 10 minutes to walk up and down a church aisle?

That should be a no brainer. Jesus died for me — point me to the aisle you want me to usherize.

Except.

Except something in me — it has to be sin; what else could it be? — shouted, "No!" No, I don't want to be an usher. I want to be the grape juice girl and serve communion to Harry Austin and say, "This is the body/blood of Christ broken/shed for you."

I swear, sometimes I'm 7, not 57.

Yes, I realize how very trivial this sounds, but it speaks to deeper issues. One: who am I serving with my service? I'm in church, doing a churchy thing, so it looks like I'm serving God. But I know full well that my service as a communion server gives me great delight, and serving God should bring delight. There's nothing wrong with that.

However, there's an awful lot of "me" and "my" in my service. I like it. I want it. I will be sad if you take it away from me.

Another issue: balking at my willingness to do something else. A true servant doesn't pick and choose her task for her master. A true servant does what she's asked or told to do.

Is that what it means to be a Christian? Are we to do whatever the church asks, whether we like it or not?

What about guilt? Is that a good enough reason to be an usher for a day? Guilt is an excellent motivator, but can it sustain me?

After all Jesus has done for me, I should just suck it up, quit whining like a little girl and be an usher. Put on my Mary Sunshine/Victory in Jesus face and "fake it 'til I make it."

Except God will see right through that and my service will stink like rotten fish.

As it turned out, I couldn't make it to church Saturday night, so I wouldn't have been able to be a communion server or an usher after all.

But that doesn't put to rest the deeper issue of willingness and guilt and service that pleases God.

The truth is, I'll never love God the way I should and my service will always be tainted with self.

Sometimes I think the best I can offer is the willingness to be willing.

Maybe even willing to be willing to be willing.

It's not admirable, but it's a start.

I can make anyone love Brussels sprouts

Jeneen Wiche
Columnist

Brussels sprouts need a PR make-over, no one seems to like them. Old varieties have been greatly improved from those forced on you as a child.

Equally, cooking methods probably can stand some updating from the warm, mushy, bitter Barbie-doll-sized cabbage; don't boil them to death, try instead some quick roasting underneath the broiler.

Today we can thank breeding programs for developing a number of improved varieties of Brussels sprouts that are sweet and nutty in flavor. There are about 70 million pounds of Brussels sprouts grown in the U.S. so perhaps more people are realizing how tasty the vegetable can be.

I have grown many late crops of Brussels sprouts, but truth be told, never with much success.

Each year I vow to give it up but as I write 'Bubbles' is germinating in the seed starting tray.

I like 'Bubbles' because it is a vigorous, early maturing plant that tolerates a bit of heat (and with a reputation for high yields.) It also has that sweet nutty flavor that wins people over.

There are several other varieties that are popular for home gardeners, including the 'Dutch Treat Hybrid' that has a particularly sweet flavor but it takes 130 days to mature; 'Jade Cross' has lighter blue-green sprouts and takes about 80 days to mature; 'Oliver' takes 90 days to mature and is considered easy to grow in less than ideal climates; 'Trafalgar' is an English –bred Brussels sprout that takes about 130 days to mature and is considered the best for extended harvest into the winter months, but I suspect that's if you are a Brussels sprouts living and growing in England!

I bring up the days to maturity issue because this is where it becomes difficult because the Brussels sprout like it cool but to mature in our gardens it has to make it through a Kentuckiana summer.

This is where I ultimately fail, I suppose… too hot for the sprout to do much except feed aphids that rapidly multiply in that same heat. I still can't yet give up.

Brussel sprouts likely got their moniker because the harvestable "sprouts" appear along the stem of the plant.

They are grown very much like other cole crops including broccoli, cauliflower and cabbage.

Around here we probably won't have a long enough cool season to have an early crop so we are be better off setting our plants out in early or midsummer for a late fall crop (which is part of the problem.)

A garden plot that has good drainage and rich soil is a must for Brussels sprouts so work in organic material before planting and side-dress with additional compost when the plants are about a foot tall. Cool, moist conditions are preferred; and if we can get a patch going they can persist into winter to about 20 degrees.

Keep them well watered and be on alert for insects.

This is the downside to growing Brussels sprouts; it seems that there are several insect problems that can thwart our efforts. Watch for cabbageworms, flea beetles, aphids and cut worms early on after transplants are set out.

You can use row covers, neem oil or pyrethrum botanicals to control some of the pests.

So, if you make it to the harvesting stage you pick the sprouts when they have formed a tight and firm ball. Remove the lower leaf and then snap off the sprout.

The sprouts that are forming along the stalk above the first ones that are harvested will continue to mature.

When you are ready to prepare some for the table it is easy and delicious: turn the broiler on high, sprinkle an aluminum baking sheet with some kosher salt, quarter the sprouts and toss in a little olive oil, pepper and garlic, spread them on the sheet and broil until the edges begin to brown.

HMH awarded accreditation from the Joint Commission

Harrison Memorial Hospital (HMH) has earned The Joint Commission's Gold Seal of Approval™ for accreditation by demonstrating compliance with The Joint Commission's national standards for health care quality and safety in hospitals. The accreditation award recognizes Harrison Memorial Hospital's dedication to continuous compliance with The Joint Commission's state-of-the-art standards.

Harrison Memorial Hospital underwent a rigorous unannounced on-site survey in December of 2011. A team of Joint Commission expert surveyors evaluated Harrison Memorial Hospital for compliance with standards of care specific to the needs of patients, including infection prevention and control, leadership and medication management.

"In achieving Joint Commission accreditation, Harrison Memorial Hospital has demonstrated its commitment to the highest level of care for its patients," says Mark Pelletier, R.N., M.S., executive director, Hospital Programs, Accreditation and Certification Services, The Joint Commission. "Accreditation is a voluntary process and I commend Harrison Memorial Hospital for successfully undertaking this challenge to elevate its standard of care and instill confidence in the community it serves."

The Joint Commission's hospital standards address important functions relating to the care of patients and the management of hospitals. The standards are developed in consultation with health care experts, providers, measurement experts and patients. Harrison Memorial Hospital has maintained this tradition of accreditation since 1973.

"With Joint Commission accreditation, we are making a significant investment in quality on a day-to-day basis from the top down. Joint Commission accreditation provides us a framework to take our organization to the next level and helps create a culture of excellence," says Sheila Currans, HMH Chief Executive Officer. "Achieving Joint Commission accreditation, for our organization, is a major step toward maintaining excellence and continually improving the care we provide."

HMH named best place to work in Kentucky

Harrison Memorial Hospital was recently named one of the best places to work in Kentucky for 2012.

HMH was also on the list of best places to work in Kentucky in 2011.

"This award is a wonderful honor for Harrison Memorial Hospital, says Dr. Frank McKemie, Chairman of HMH Board of Directors. "It is a testimony to the hard work and dedication of all our hospital employees."

The statewide survey and awards program was designed to identify, recognize and honor the best places of employment in Kentucky, benefiting the state's economy, its workforce and businesses.

HMH is one of 65 companies in Kentucky to make the list for 2012.

"The employees of HMH make this hospital the best place to work. Their passion and dedication to the care and service of others is something very special," says Sheila Currans, HMH Chief Executive Officer. "The patients served by HMH are the real winners because they get to experience the sense of purpose and family at work in 2012 at HMH."

Harrison Memorial Hospital will be recognized and honored at the Best Places to Work in Kentucky 8th Annual Awards Dinner on Thursday, April 19, 2012 at the Galt House Hotel in Louisville.

The final rankings will be announced at the event. A magazine recognizing the winners and their final rankings will be released for statewide distribution at that time.

Estate

From ESTATE page 8

Organizing the paperwork associated with your assets and liabilities will be important to your family members when your estate is settled. As you prepare the list of your assets and debts, also note the locations of important paperwork. You may consider purchasing a small fire proof safe to consolidate all important papers into one place.

Once you have an inventory of your assets, discuss with your spouse and other family members how you would like to distribute your assets to meet your estate-planning objectives. Communication is important throughout the estate planning process. Sharing your estate-planning objectives with family members will help them better understand the choices you make in asset distribution. Often, a spouse or close family member is asked to be the executor of an estate; the executor ensures that your assets are distributed according to your estate plan.

The final step is to work with an attorney to put your plans on paper. Depending on the size of your estate, you may also need to work with your accountant, financial planner or others to develop your complete estate plan. To locate an attorney, talk with friends and family members who may have recently completed an estate plan. Don't be afraid to interview two or three attorneys to find a lawyer which meets your needs. In addition to helping you put your plans on paper, an attorney will also be able to assist you in understanding and developing other estate planning tools such as power of attorney, trusts, or gifting.

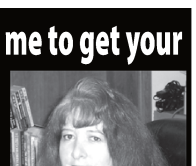

Remember, estate planning is too important of a topic to delay planning. For more information contact the Harrison County Cooperative Extension Service.

Romans Chapter 6

In this chapter the apostle Paul tells believers in Christ what happened to them when they obeyed the gospel and why. He, also, gives instructions of what to do and not to do.

What shall we say then? Are we to continue in sin that grace might increase? May it never be! How shall we who died to sin still live in it? Or do you not know that all of us who have been baptized into Christ have been baptized into his death? There fore, we have been buried with him through baptism into death, in order that as Christ was raised from the dead through the glory of the Father, so we, too, might walk in the newness of life. For if we have become united with him in the likeness of his death, certainly we shall be, also, in the likeness of his resurrection, knowing this, that our old self was crucified with him, that our body of sin might be done away with, that we should no longer be slaves to sin; for he who has died is free from sin. Now if we have died with Christ, we believe that we shall, also, live with him.

Sin is disobedience to God. Grace is the gift of God through the death of Christ which no one can earn. The eternal life which no one can work for is a free gift. Baptism is a burial in water. A person who is baptized is put under water. See John 3:23 (there was much water there.) And John 4:1-2. Jesus' disciples were baptized at the same time as John the Baptist.

If one of your loved ones died and those who buried the body put a few shovels of dirt on the casket, would you accept that as a burial? In Matt. 28: 16-20, referred to as the Great Commission, Jesus said, "All authority has been given to me in heaven and on earth. Go, therefore, and make disciples of all the nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and the Son, and the Holy Spirit, teaching them to observe all that I have commanded you: and, lo, I am with you always, even to the end of the age." Baptism to those who believe represents the death, burial, and resurrection of Jesus. This is how people are united with Jesus Christ. We have a new life with Jesus. Our old self was crucified with Jesus.

In Gal. 2:20, Paul writes, "I have been crucified with Christ; and it is no longer I who live, but Christ that lives within me; and the life which I now live in the flesh, I live by faith in the Son of God, who loved me, and delivered himself up for me. When we die with Christ, the body of sin is done away with. We are no longer slaves to sin. He who dies is free from sin. We shall live with Christ; because of his resurrection he shall never die again. All of this we believe by faith. So remember Jesus' question asked in Luke 6:46 -- "Why do you call me Lord, Lord, and do not the things I say?

Breds finish at home with 71-58 win over Frankfort

By Mike Aldridge, Sports writer

The last home game for the Harrison County Thorobreds Tuesday night was a great way to close out the season on the Hilltop.

A quick and athletic Frankfort Panthers squad provided the opposition and though the Breds never trailed, the Panthers never quit.

The Thorobreds hit their first four attempts from the field as they raced out to a 27-13 lead by the end of the first session.

Caleb Ford had 12 of his game-high 25 points in this opening period.

A blemish in the first quarter stats was Harrison County connecting on only one of eight free throws.

Frankfort came back in the second period as they out rebounded Harrison County by a nine-to-two margin and cut into the home team's lead by a basket with the Breds still ahead, 41-29 at the half.

Harrison County limited its turnovers in the first half to only three, which helped stem the tide a little as Frankfort battled hard.

The Thorobreds pulled away again in the third quarter, but not before the Panthers cut the lead to 10 at 43-33 and again at 46-36.

Following a Coach Mike Reitz time out, Harrison County scored nine of the next 12 and Frankfort did not get closer than the final 13-point margin.

"I thought that Matthew got a really good effort from his team tonight," said Reitz speaking of the Frankfort coach Matthew Yates. "Jr. Jackson is a real banger inside and Oliver's a good point guard."

The coach said he thought other than a couple of questionable shots, his squad played well.

"We can still improve on a few things," he noted. "But overall, we are rounding into a good team at the right time."

Ford's 25 points led the Thorobreds followed by 15 for Dillon Pulliam and 14 for Nick Slucher.

Ford, Slucher and Walker Hill each played their last home game as a Thorobred.

The Thorobreds hit on 25-53 from the field and a red hot six of 13 from the three point line.

Aaron Jackson led Frankfort with 24 points and 12 rebounds as he and junior Jordan Martin for the Breds staged an intense battle under the boards for the vast majority of the ball game.

Jalen Oliver scored 12 and long-range bomber Zach Perry scored 11 as the Panthers also had three players in double figures.

The win improved the Harrison County record to 16-11 with one last regular season game on the road at Montgomery County (21-8) Friday night. Frankfort stands at 12-14 following the Tuesday night defeat.

The senior cheerleaders were honored between games on Tuesday night.

There are six seniors on this year's championship squad. They are Macy Gasser, daughter of Adam and Sheila Gasser, Abbey Hehr, daughter of Kelly and Laura Hehr, Lauren Jackson, daughter of Gary and Becky Jackson, Taylor Moore, daughter of Troy and Theresa Moore, Madison Nelly, daughter of David and Stacy Sheakley and Larry and Deanna Nelly, and Megan Potter, daughter of Diane Sims, Jeff Sander and Ken Beitler.

During the halftime intermission the Harrison County AAU teams were introduced along with the Harrison County Middle School squads and the Harrison County freshman team.

The Harrison County junior varsity defeated the Panthers by a 57-50 score to open the evening.

Dillon Pulliam connects on the three last Friday on the Hilltop. Pulliam was two for three from beyond the arc and posted 17 points total.

Breds win Senior Night battle with Mason County in double OT

By Mike Aldridge, Sports writer

Frankie Valli of Four Seasons fame sang a song in the late 60s or early 70s that had the lyric "Oh What a Night," which describes the weekend for the Harrison County Thorobreds.

First the junior varsity beat Mason County with a come-from-behind overtime win, 46-42. Next, the varsity Breds went to two overtimes to beat Mason County, 53-51, for the first regular season win over the Royals in 16 years. Then on Saturday, the Thorobreds beat Paul Laurence Dunbar 62-61 in the Shoot for the Cure Classic at Nicholas County.

Valli's special night was not about basketball, but the theme was certainly there for the weekend.

Senior Night honored the work and careers of four deserving young people and their parents.

Sara Jenkins, who keeps the clock in the junior varsity games and stats for the varsity, was the first person honored along with her parents Mark and Kim Jenkins.

Walker Hill with his parents Charlie and Cindy Hill were next. Walker is a reserve big man for the basketball Breds after completing a fine football career with the Breds.

Caleb Ford followed with his parents Jeff and Carline. Caleb, the newest member of the 1,000 point club, is going to Northern Kentucky University after graduation.

Nick Slucher with parents Steve and Cathy escorting him to the floor was the last senior. Nick, who is a never say die kind of player, is going to Georgetown College to run cross country and track for the Tigers.

Mason County jumped out with a quick 13-2 lead, which they stretched to 18-3 before Coach Mike Reitz and his staff switched the Breds to a 2-3 zone from a man-to-man defense.

The Breds then scored the last six points of the quarter to cut the lead to 18-9 going into the second frame.

The defense did wonders and Harrison County caught fire from the field as they cut into the Royals lead in the second quarter.

Dillon Pulliam, Jordan Stubbs and Scott Kendall hit threes and the home-standing Breds made seven of 12 from the field while Mason County was only two of seven as the lead was reduced to 28-26 at the half.

Only eight of 10 free throw shooting compared to no free throw attempts for Harrison County gave the Royals the small halftime margin.

Both teams struggled from the floor in the third period. Very physical play highlighted the defenses as no shot went uncontested.

Harrison County was more effective with its shots. The Breds grabbed the momentum and the lead at the end of the period 38-36.

Still the game was nip and tuck with first Harrison County leading in the fourth period and then Mason County taking a seemingly commanding five-point lead

Harrison Co. cheerleaders soar in national competition

By Mike Aldridge, Sports writer

It was 2001 that the Harrison County cheerleaders last reached the final round of the UCA National Cheerleading competition in Orlando, Fla.

Never had the cheerleaders finished as high as they did last weekend though as they worked their way to fifth in the nation in the small squad division.

Coach Jessica Reynolds was ecstatic with the girls' performance.

"As a first-year coach, I still have no words to describe how proud I am of my team and assistant coaches," she said on the road back to Kentucky. "We all came together when the pressure was on and exceeded our goals."

The cheerleaders began with a performance in the afternoon on Saturday that propelled them into the semi finals on Saturday night. There were just a few minutes between the final round and the preliminary, but the squad stepped out on the mat and had such a grand performance that they qualified for the Sunday night final round.

On the way to the finals, the Harrison County team defeated such prestigious participants as Greenup County and last year's Kentucky state champion Somerset.

The Sunday finals presented a huge challenge, but the girls responded with a magnificent effort which left them in fifth place only .2 behind the fourth place team, which was Southwestern of Pulaski County.

Perry County Central finished second, which gives the Harrison County

Jordan Doram puts in two from the back of the key, avoiding the Scott High double team Monday on the Hilltop.

Fillies win two straight heading for regular season finale Friday

By Mike Aldridge, Sports writer

Senior Night for the Harrison County Fillies was a success as the three senior players went out with a win as the Fillies notched their ninth win of the season on Monday night.

This win was the second in a row and third of four games in February.

Scott High Lady Eagles were the opponent for the Valentine's Day eve game and they put up a struggle for three quarters before a flurry of points in the fourth quarter gave the Fillies the 57-45 win.

The three-point shot was the downfall and the savior for the Fillies Monday.

They attempted 17 in the first half and made only three as they both shot Scott out of the game and then back into it. The Fillies led 14-8 at the end of the first quarter, but shot only 24 percent in the second quarter in addition to sending the Lady Eagles to the foul line 10 times in the first half to allow them to tie the score at the half at 25 each.

The visiting Lady Eagles scored the first three points of the third quarter, but the Fillies scored eight in a row to take a 33-28 lead.

Scott High came back to tie about half way thru the period, but the Fillies pulled out again with five unanswered points to take a 40-35 lead into the last stanza.

Scott High again cut into the lead getting to within two at 45-43 before Harrison County again ran out 10 straight to put the game away.

Sophomore center Jordan Doram led the Fillies with another double-double as she had 20 points and 11 rebounds. Senior Mariah Nichols had a big night with 19 points including five three pointers.

Freshman Chelsea Ingram had three threes for nine points and seniors Kelsey Cummins and Emalee Little had four and two points in their senior night performance.

Eighth grader Madison Philpott contributed three points and grabbed eight rebounds for the Fillies who improved to 9-19. Scott High fell to 3-25 for the year. The Eagles were led by senior Taylor Stinson who had 12 points and seven rebounds. The junior varsity dropped a two point decision to Scott High by a 36-34 score.

Friday night in Paris, the Fillies were never threatened as they pounded the Lady Greyhounds (3-18), 66-38.

Paris began the game in a zone defense to try to combat sophomore center Doram's scoring, but the Fillies' Ingram, Cummins and Little each hit three pointers and the home team changed the defense.

They remained in the zone but quit using the guards to double down on Doram.

The Fillies then worked the ball effectively and Doram scored 33 for the game as the Fillies led at each quarter stop.

"We kept our turnovers down, controlled the boards and had good ball movement," observed Coach Kim Furnish. "When we play like this we have a much better chance for success."

Senior Nichols had 13 points to compliment Doram's output.

The junior varsity won the opener of the evening, 35-12. Freshman Kassidy Cook led in scoring with 11 and sophomore Haley Powers added 10 for the junior varsity.

Friday night the Fillies will host the Bryan Station Lady Defenders who will bring a 12-13 record to the Hilltop. This will be the final regular season game before the 38th District tournament at Nicholas County Monday at 6 p.m. The Fillies face the Pendleton County Lady Cats in the district opener.

Freshman boys finish season as district champs, regional runners-up

By Mike Aldridge, Sports writer

The Harrison County Thorobreds freshman team finished the season with a sparkling 16-5 record as they defeated Bishop Brossart and then lost to Mason County in the regional tournament.

Coach Dr. Stephen Moses' team represented the 38th District in the four-team region as only the district winners advance to the regional tournament.

Harrison County was paired against the host from the 37th, the Bishop Brossart Mustangs. In the only previous meeting in the regular season, the Thorobreds fell to the Mustangs by nine points so they hoped to avenge that defeat.

The game started well for Harrison County as they were able to move the ball against the trademark-tough Brossart defense and score 13 points in the first period led by Brandon Case's seven.

The second period saw the Mustangs solve the Harrison County defense and, after being limited to four points in the first, knock down 16 to trail the Thorobreds by four, 26-22, by halftime.

Brossart continued to rally at the start of the third period tying the score with four minutes to play in the quarter.

Harrison County put on a rally of its own, going on an 11-4 run to lead at the start of the last period by seven, 40-33.

Trenton Thompson had nine of his team-leading 19 points in the third period to bolster the Thorobreds.

Harrison County continued to hit in the early part of the last stanza and pushed the lead to 12 points before struggling at the foul line.

While Harrison County struggled to score, the Mustangs warmed up and cut the lead to five before the visiting squad settled down and put the game away, 59-53.

DJ Hicks scored 11 of his 16 in the final period. Case added 10 points as Harrison County had three people in double figures.

This win advanced Harrison County to the Thursday night finals against Mason County, who dispatched Montgomery County 55-40 in the other semi final.

The championship game was the rubber match of the Mason County vs. Harrison County series of the season as each team had won on the other's floor.

This game was a nip-and-tuck affair throughout the first half as both teams pressed and played physical basketball.

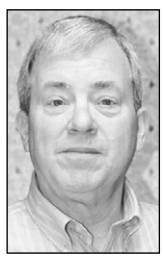

In the second period both Thompson and Austin Reffett went to the bench in foul trouble leaving a four guard offense and Alex Kinsey, the only big man left, to battle the Royals. This five battled toe-to-toe with Mason County trailing by three at the half, 31-28.

Mason County came out hot in the third period and scored the first seven points before Case hit a three off a Jordan Kenney pass to cut the lead back to seven at 38-31.

Unfortunately, the Breds did not score again in the period as Mason County took a 45-31 lead into the fourth period. The cold shooting for Harrison County continued in the fourth period and Mason County pulled away for a 60-39 win. Thompson led Harrison County in scoring with 14 with Robbie Stroub next with seven.

Mike's Minute

This is not Thanksgiving but it could be

Mike Aldridge
Sports Writer

Before I get into my thought for the week I want to add a Valentine worst gift story that makes some of the others pale.

When Ben Hyatt wrote the story last week I'm sure he couldn't have imagined that someone as smooth and loved by women like me could have a story that would be worthy but here we go.

Patti and I lived in Michigan for the longest nine months in history before moving to Cynthiana in April 1976.

I managed a Sears store in Caro, Mich., and in my regular duties became acquainted with the manager of the Woolworth's Department Store.

The day before Valentine's Day in 1976, Ralph convinced me that he would have several boxes of Valentine's candy left on the 15th and they would be at less than half price.

So, being the thrifty guy I am and also on a tight budget, I thought this would be a great idea.

I withstood the looks etc. from Patti on Valentine's Day to rush to Woolworth's and buy a three-pound or more box of candy on the day after. I paid almost nothing yet in my mind had the greatest gift of all.

I had a huge box of chocolates and had saved money, too.

Well, to say she was not pleased with the timing and even less so when she found out I did it to save money is an under statement.

Let me admit, though I still don't quite understand what the big deal was, I have never tried anything close to this again.

• • • • • •

Things are going great in Harrison County sports right now and while we have some work yet to do, the school's sports are on the up tick.

Let me run down some of the good things going on right now.

•The Harrison County cheerleaders are fifth in the nation.

•The high school bowling teams are running roughshod over the competition with the boys undefeated and the girls having only one loss.

•We qualified six wrestlers for the state with senior Anthony Shirley winning the region championship in the 120 lb class.

•The Fillies, while not having a winning record, have been very competitive and could very well win the second district in a row.

•The freshman team had a good season finishing runners up in the region.

•The eighth grade team went undefeated in conference play and won the conference tournament; and

•The Thorobreds are 15-11 at this writing as they defeated Mason County for the first time in regular season in 16 years and beat a Lexington team the very next day.

The only rough spot we have at the high school is the fact that we are again looking for a football coach.

While I don't want to dwell on that, the time to act is now as a coach needs to be put in place as soon as possible. This coach needs to be someone with a passion for the game, our county and our school.

Enough on the football situation for now. It is time to get behind the teams that are in action now and cheer them on to success in the upcoming tournaments.

We really have a unique opportunity to match the cheerleaders with some big victories.

Shirley wins wrestling region championship

Six qualify for state tournament

By Mike Aldridge, Sports writer

Senior Anthony Shirley led the way as the Harrison County Thorobreds wrestlers finished only 14 points away from third place in the 7th Region wrestling tournament at Western Hills Saturday.

Shirley scored a reversal on Dunbar's Brad Milford with five seconds left in the match to win the 120 lb region title 12-11.

Five other wrestlers qualified for the state tournament held this weekend at the Kentucky Horse Park in the Alltech Arena.

Senior Eric Kiskaden was third in the 195 lb. class qualifying for the first time to compete in the state meet. Freshman Colton Mott was third in the 126 lb. class as he upset a heavily favored Tates Creek grappler, Adam Sulieman.

Senior Shawn Tobin was fourth in the 152 lb. class as he shook off some mid season injuries to qualify after being an alternate in two straight seasons.

Freshman Terrell Roberts followed his junior varsity state championship with a fourth place finish in the 132 lb. class and eighth grader Nathan Lopez was edged by Tucker Hurst of Woodford County to finish fourth in the 106 lb. class. Lopez is the first wrestler since possibly the best wrestler in Harrison County history, Josh Ashbrook, to qualify as an eighth grader.

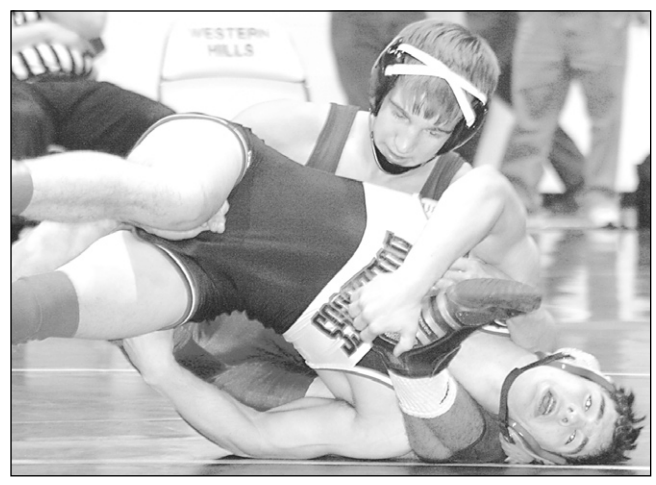

If not for some misfortune, Harrison County could have finished third or better in the region. Clay Arthur, who was a fourth place finisher in the state junior varsity competition, won his first match but was called home with a family emergency.

Chase Highlander at 113 lbs and Noah Mitchell at 138 lbs were both within a match of finishing in the top four and are alternates this year.

Heavyweight Jonathan Pierce injured his knee in the first match and could no longer compete in the tournament.

"I was glad to see our seniors qualify," said a pleased but still unsatisfied Coach Luke Tucker. "Just another win or two or a few less injuries and we could have finished in at least third. Our young team is peaking at the right time."

One of the highlights for Harrison County, along with Shirley's championship, was the wrestling of first-year wrestler senior Austin Roberts. Roberts, won two matches and was just one win away from being an alternate. Woodford County won the event followed by Henry Clay, Lafayette and Franklin County ahead of the Thorobreds.

Harrison County's Anthony Shirley takes down his Dunbar opponent to win the 120 lb. title in the 7th Region tournament at Western Hills.

Breds

late in regulation.

The Breds came back late in the game with a Kendall basket and then with less than one second later a called play put Ford in position for a dramatic three to put the game into overtime tied at 50.

The first overtime was a one-point affair as Mason County held the ball for the biggest part of the three minutes before senior guard Zaire Henry made one of two free throws to give his team the lead.

Pulliam made one of two for Harrison County to tie and the Royals could not get a good look at the basket to score which put the game into the second overtime.

Again, Mason County held the ball but missed on a shot by senior and leading scorer Tyler Black and a put-back by Henry.

Jordan Martin grabbed the rebound and, following a timeout, the Thorobreds ran a sideline play with Kendall hitting Pulliam with a beautiful bounce pass for the game-winning score with less than two seconds to play.

Ford and Kendall led the Thorobreds in scoring as the senior forward scored 21 while the sophomore had a double double with 17 points and 10 rebounds.

Black led Mason County with 18.

Coach Reitz was very pleased after the game.

"Just an outstanding high school basketball game," said the veteran coach of many such games. "It was a great win for all the boys and I am especially happy for the seniors. I told them after the game that it has been a while since we won a game against a team that we really should not have beaten."

The win improved Harrison County to 14-11 while the Royals fell to 12-13.

Saturday's game against Dunbar was a different game though still physical and heavy on the defense.

The Thorobreds started out with the lead in this one as Dunbar struggled from the field at first and their big forward William Gary got into foul trouble.

Harrison County had a 16-9 lead at the end of the first period.

The strain of the night before seemed to affect the Thorobreds in the second quarter as they only managed six points while Dunbar hit for 10 and cut the lead to three at 22-19 with half the game played.

The second half saw the Bulldogs come to life and draw more fouls from Harrison County.

Dunbar rolled up 18 big points in the third period to take a 37-36 lead going into the final stanza.

Only some clutch three-point shooting by the Thorobreds kept the score close.

The game was extremely even and tight in the last stanza, but Ford and Pulliam along with some clutch plays by Slucher and Stubbs, enabled the Harrison County team to come away with the one-point win.

The last free throw sequence of the game led to some drama as Ford was fouled with the score then 60-58 in Harrison County's favor. Ford who had blood on his shirt had to come out of the game and Stubbs came in to make the free tosses.

Coach Reitz said after the game that he turned and asked the junior if he could make the shots.

"I can if you want me to," answered Stubbs. Reitz did and Stubbs did and after a three by Dunbar ended the game, every point was needed as the Breds escaped 62-61.

Ford and Pulliam again led in scoring with 24 and 20 points while Pulliam again had a double-double with 11 boards.

Gary came to life in the second half to lead Dunbar (16-13) with 17 while Henry added 14 and sophomore guard Connor McHugh threw in 11.

The Thorobreds improved to 15-11 with a Tuesday match scheduled with the Frankfort Panthers. The Panthers sport a 12-13 mark for the year but have shown marked improvement over the duration of the season. This will be the last home game of the season for the Thorobreds.

Bowlers roll over Scott Co. in Sunday road match

The Harrison County bowling team continued its magnificent season rolling over the Scott County Cardinals in a Sunday match at Joyland.

Mikayla Fryman with 261, Heather Randolph with 239, Rebecca Switzer with 230 and Jessica Wilson with 224 were instrumental in the victory as well for the Fillies.

The Thorobreds were led by their scoring leader for the season, Zach Schneider. Schneider had an excellent two-game total of 485 followed by James Snapp's 417. Joseph Bush was third with 395, Justin Mitchell fourth with 388 and Gregory Dick fifth with 376.

Harrison County improved to a perfect 10-0 season record winning 61 of 70 games. The bowlers will again face the Scott County team next Sunday as the regular season begins to wind down.

squad a goal for the weekend.

This Saturday at 5:20 p.m., the Harrison County squad performs in Bowling Green at Diddle Arena as they compete in the Kentucky State Championships, sponsored by KAPOS.

"We need to stay focused and hit our routine to hopefully bring home the state championship," Reynolds noted. "If we can improve in just a few areas and only slightly we can get the job done."

CITY OF BERRY, KENTUCKY
ORDINANCE # 101-2012

AN ORDINANCE TO REPLACE ORDINANCE #123-2003 WITH A NEW ORDINANCE TO PROHIBIT NUISANCES IN THE CITY OF BERRY, KENTUCKY.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED BY THE CITY OF BERRY, KENTUCKY, AS FOLLOWS:

SECTION 1: In addition to what is declared in this chapter to be a public nuisance, those offenses which are known to the common law and statutes of Kentucky as public nuisances may, in case any thereof exists within the city limits, be treated as such and be proceeded against as is provided in this chapter and Code, or in accordance with any other provisions of law. Whenever the word "nuisance" is used in this chapter it refers to a public nuisance.

SECTION 2: The following conditions are hereby declared to be public nuisances and are prohibited:

A. DWELLINGS UNFIT FOR HUMAN HABITATION: The erection, use, or maintenance of a dwelling which is unfit for human habitation.

A. A "dwelling" shall include any part of any building or its premises used as a place of residence or habitation or for sleeping by any person. A dwelling is "unfit for human habitation" when it is dangerous or detrimental to life or health because of want of repair, defects in the drainage, plumbing, lighting, ventilation or construction, infection with contagious disease or the existence on the premises of an unsanitary condition.

B. DANGEROUS BUILDINGS: Any building, house or structure becomes so out of repair and dilapidated that, it shall, endanger the life, limb or property of, or cause hurt, damage or injury to persons or property, by reason of collapse of such building, house or structure or by the falling of parts thereof or of objects therefrom.

C. DANGEROUS TREES, STACKS, ETC.: Any tree, stack of materials or other object remaining standing upon such premises in such condition that it shall, if the condition is permitted to continue, endanger life limb or property or cause hurt, damage or injury to persons or property upon the public streets or public ways adjacent thereto, or endanger the life, limb or property or cause hurt, damage or injury to persons or property upon adjacent parcels of property or persons present on adjacent parcels of property, by the falling thereof or of parts thereof.

D. DILAPIDATED BUILDINGS: Any building, house or structure so out of repair and dilapidated that it constitutes a hazard likely to catch on fire or communicate fire because of its condition and lack of repair, or that due to lack of adequate maintenance or neglect it endangers the public health, welfare or safety, or materially interferes with peaceful enjoyment by owners or occupants of adjacent property.

E. ACCUMULATED RUBBISH: If such an accumulation exists on any premises, of filth, refuse, trash, garbage. or other waste material that it endangers the public health, welfare or safety, or materially interferes with the peaceful enjoyment by owners or occupants of adjacent property, because of the danger of its catching or communicating fire, its attracting and propagating vermin, rodents or insects, or its blowing into any street, sidewalk or property of another.

F: NOXIOUS ODORS OR SMOKE: Emission from the premises into the surrounding atmosphere such odors, dusts, smoke or other matter as to render ordinary use or physical occupation of other property in the vicinity uncomfortable or impossible.

G: NOISE: Emission from the premises noise noxious enough to destroy the enjoyment of dwelling houses or other uses of property in the vicinity by interfering with ordinary comforts of human existence.

H: STORAGE OF EXPLOSIVES OR COMBUSTIBLE MATERIAL: Storage on the premises such combustible or explosive material as to create a safety hazard to other property or persons in the vicinity.

I: WEEDS: The existence of grass, thistles, burdock, jimson weeds, ragweeds, milkweeds, poison ivy, poison oak, iron weeds and all other noxious weeds and rank vegetation in excess of height of twelve (12) inches.

J. OPEN WELLS: The maintenance of any open or uncovered, or insecurely covered, cistern, cellar, well, pit, excavation or vault situated upon private premises in any open or unfenced lot or place.

K. TREES AND SHRUBBERY OBSTRUCTING STREETS OR SIDEWALKS: Growth or maintenance of trees with less than fourteen (14) feet clearance over streets and less than eight (8) feet, over sidewalks, or the growing and maintenance of shrubbery in excess of three (3) feet in height within the radius of twenty (20) feet from the point where the curb line of any street intersects the curb line of another street.

L: LIVESTOCK: Keeping livestock, poultry, exotic animals, reptiles, or other creatures, except dogs and cats kept as personal pets, within the city limits. Livestock shall include but not be limited to, horses, ponies, cows, hogs, and sheep.

M. JUNK, SCRAP METAL, MOTOR VEHICLES: Storage of motor vehicles in an inoperative condition, motor vehicles unfit for further use, automobile parts or scrap metal, or parking motor vehicles in an unsurfaced or ungraveled area, where such motor vehicles can be seen from any public street or highway, within the city limits.

"Motor vehicle in an inoperative condition" means and includes any style or type of motor driven vehicle used or useful for the conveyance of persons or property which is unable to move under its own power due to defective or missing parts, and which has remained in such condition for a period of not less than ten (10) consecutive days.

"Motor vehicle unfit for further use" means, and includes, any style or type of motor driven vehicle used for the conveyance of persons or property, which is in a dangerous condition, has defective or missing parts or is in such a condition generally as to be unfit for further use as a conveyance. "Automobile parts" means, and includes, any portion of parts of any motor driven vehicle as detached from the vehicle as a whole.

"Scrap metal" means and includes pieces or parts of steel, iron, tin, zinc, copper, aluminum, or any alloy thereof, whether covered with porcelain or any other material, whether intact or in parts, which has served its usefulness in its original form and can no longer be used or useful for its originally intended purpose.

N. HOMES WITHOUT CITY SEWER AND PUBLIC WATER:

No dwelling shall be inhabited unless said dwelling is serviced by city sewer and public water.

SECTION 3: Whether or not a particular annoyance, of the character listed in Section 2, constitutes a nuisance shall depend on its effect upon persons of ordinary health and average sensibilities, and not its effect upon persons who are delicate or supersensitive, or whose habits, tastes, or conditions are such that they never are sensible of any annoyance.

SECTION 4: For the purpose of this ordinance, it shall not be essential that the nuisance be created or contributed to by the owners, or tenants, or their agents, or representatives, but merely that the nuisance be enacted or contributed to by licensees, invitees, guests or other persons for whose conduct the owner or operator is responsible, but by the exercise of reasonable care, the owner or operator ought to have become aware of.

SECTION 5: Any City official may notify City Council that a nuisance exists and present the situation at the regular Council meeting or, if necessary, a Special Meeting to address an urgent remedy.

A. A majority vote of the council will be required to send the owner a notice to abate the nuisance.

B. Owner will be notified as to length of time allowed to correct the nuisance. The notice of abatement shall be served in writing personally or at the usual place of residence of the person cited, or by certified mail. If the nuisance is not abated within the time specified in the notice, the person specified will be deemed to be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be fined no less than $25.00 and not more than $500 for each offense. Each day's continued violation shall constitute a separate offense. Fines will continue until nuisance is abated. Fines will be lodged against property until paid in full along with earned interest..

C. If the party fails to abate/remove the nuisance within a reasonable time of being notified, the City may enter on the premises to remove or abate the nuisance. The City shall have a lien against the property for the reasonable value of labor and materials used in removing/abating the nuisance. The affidavit of the Mayor shall constitute prima facie evidence of the amount of the lien and the regularity of the proceedings pursuant to KRS 381.770 and this section, and shall be recorded in the Office of the County Clerk.. The lien shall be notice to all persons from the time of its recording and shall bear interest at 12% per annum until paid. The lien created shall take precedence over all other subsequent liens, except state, county, city, and school board taxes, and may be enforced by judicial proceeding. In addition to this remedy of any other remedy authorized by law, the owner of a property upon which a lien has been attached pursuant to this Section shall be personally liable for the amount of the lien, including all interest, civil penalties, and other charges, and the City may bring a civil action against the owner and shall have the same remedies as provided for the recovery of a debt owed.

SECTION 7: This Ordinance shall take effect upon passage, approval, and publication as required by law.

Introduced and First Reading: Regular Meeting, January 12, 2012

Second Reading and Enacted: February 9, 2012

Signed by Mayor: February 9, 2012
